

ZRG moves headquarters in California from Carlsbad to Oceanside

July 5, 2017 -- ZRG is excited to announce their relocation from Carlsbad to Oceanside California. The woman owned company grew out of its Carlsbad facility and moved into a larger location in Oceanside, California. New, additional offices and a larger warehouse provide ZRG with the much needed space it needs for the booming business.

ZRG is a dedicated supporter of the biomedical community. It's President, Tony Lively, is Chairperson for the California Medical Instrumentation Association. ZRG's CEO, Mimi Lively, is currently developing San Diego County's first Biomedical Equipment Technician Certificate Program through Mira Costa College's Workforce Development.

The phone number remains at 760.438.8835

ZRG's new location provides the space it needs for receiving surplus medical equipment removed from hospitals and clinics. The equipment is then tested to determine its fate: reuse, repair and reuse, disassembled for parts, donated, or responsibly recycled. ZRG follows strict HIPAA standards, is certified ISO 13485 and ISO/IEC 17021, and is an R2 Recycler – audited regularly for its standard of practices by Sustainable Electronics Recycling International (SERI).

ZRG is the proven solution for liquidation of surplus medical equipment throughout the United States. ZRG is an R2 Recycler, audited regularly for its standard of practices by SERI.
