

Transform IT Assets into Tools for Charitable Change with New GreenGiving Program

Tempus presents new GreenGiving Program to help their clients give back

The GreenGiving Program is designed to elevate corporate social responsibility by transforming outdated or surplus IT assets into powerful tools for positive change.

Participants in this program can choose to have the proceeds from the re-marketing and resale of their donated IT assets directed to a top-rated charity of their choice. GreenGiving by Tempus offers companies a streamlined and secure way to donate their IT assets through a certified IT disposition process, ensuring data security and efficient electronics recycling.

This unique approach allows companies to contribute to the causes they care about most while mitigating their environmental footprint. This initiative not only reduces electronic waste but also enhances companies' Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) impact by promoting sustainability and responsible disposal practices.

Fulton Connor, CEO & President of Tempus said, "Our mission with GreenGiving is to turn potential e-waste into opportunities for positive impact, by participating in this program, companies can not only manage their IT assets responsibly but also support charitable organizations and enhance their corporate social responsibility efforts."

Learn more about Tempus and how to participate with GreenGiving at contact@4tempus.com

About Tempus

Tempus provides solutions for all electronic assets, not just high-value assets, allowing customers to have one solution to both reuse and recycle. Offering compliance-based, customizable solutions for organizations across numerous industries looking to maximize the value of their electronic assets in a certified, environmentally sustainable way.